

ColorEarthGreen Redefining Sustainable Lifestyle

Why ColorEarthGreen:

ColorEarthGreen was founded to develop processes which help us live a sustainable lifestyle and reduce the negative impact we are creating for our environment. Our inspiration comes from the organic farmers who utilize natural techniques instead of fertilizers in their farms to bring the freshest and clean produce for keeping the consumers healthy and our environment toxin free. As our population is rising so are our needs and the unhealthy toxic waste. The waste we create includes hazardous waste, chemicals, medicines, electronics, plastics, industrial, radioactive, inert waste, food waste, sewage and municipal solid waste. The waste dumped everyday pollutes air, water and land degrading health of human beings and our environment. We are creating a social platform and a lifestyle retail food store for our communities providing them better options to be more sustainable; recycling, reusing and reducing their footprint.

How ColorEarthGreen makes a Difference:

ColorEarthGreen would promote sustainability through a lifestyle retail food store and an interactive educational community engagement platform through green score, rewards, green games, energy-water management, recycling items promoting healthy toxin free green products, reducing food waste including distribution to food banks for homeless. We are interested in launching a sustainability lifestyle Store promoting natural green products, local small business, organic cultivation and techniques reducing plastic, paper and food waste produced by the conventional stores. There has been a requirement of natural products made of pure ingredients missing from our current stores which are mixed use providing very few choices for people to transition to a healthier sustainable lifestyle. This would be one of a kind store focused on developing organic culture working together with our local farmers and green product manufacturers to provide healthier zero waste choices for our customers for making them adapt to a sustainable way of life reducing the container trash produced every year through recyclable choices. Through ColorEarthGreen we are redefining our manufacturing, green building materials, retail and food industry with unique practices developing standards to promote environment protection and ecofriendly habits.
